

INFOCUS

Pay your helper's salary electronically, and encourage her to use e-remittance

Dear Employer,

Do consider paying your Migrant Domestic Worker (MDW)'s salary electronically. You will save yourself the inconvenience of having to withdraw cash! You can set standing instructions with your bank to ensure that your MDW receives her salary promptly, every month. Electronic records generated will also help avoid any salary disputes.

Help your MDW open a bank account. Your MDW can also send money home through e-remittance to save time and for her added convenience.

About e-remittance

- Sending money home via e-remittance is cheaper, easier and more convenient.
- E-remittances can be performed safely through remittance agents' mobile app.
- Paying salaries electronically into your MDW's bank account will facilitate her use of e-remittance options.
- If your MDW is new to e-remittance and online services, do help her with the process through the step-by-step guide.

Scam Alert

Protect your MDW against fraud

- Inform your MDW not to conduct remittance and not to give any personal details through text messages, calls or emails.
- Encourage your MDW to use licensed remittance agents. You can refer to <https://eservices.mas.gov.sg/fid> for a list of licensed remittance agents and banks.